Sure.

When we presented the Distance Learning Plan to the board, we shared that we would be working to distribute laptops and MiFis to students in need without access at home, starting at the High School Level first (MiFis since they already have laptops), then Middle Schools, then Elementary Schools, grades 3-6. The Elementary School grades were focused on 3-6 to be consistent with the FCPSOn multi-year plan that has been shared with the board many times over the past 5 years. There had been previous concerns about issuing devices to the younger students, especially K-2. Of course, the FCPSOn plans were presented prior to COVID-19 and the situation we now find ourselves in. Since we have started distributing laptops to Elementary Schools this week, there have been a number of requests for K-2 students. We discussed this need with the Leadership Team this week. The decision was to focus right now on grades 3-6 division-wide, then see where we are with inventory. Some schools will have more inventory available than others, depending on the needs of their specific community. We would then plan to come back to the board for a discussion/decision before beginning to issue devices to the youngest grades, K-2.

Thanks,
Maribeth

Good morning Representative Frisch,

You and all the School Board/FCPS leadership remain in my thoughts during this challenging time.

I have heard some rumors in the community that the School Board has not yet approved the distribution of laptops to students in K – 2 that requested them. Can you confirm or clarify this position?

We have several families at [REDACTED] who fall into this group. Not having a laptop prevents them from having the proper tools and teacher and peer virtual interactions needed to get through this difficult time. Perhaps more than the older kids, the younger children need to "see" people in order to still feel a connection to their teachers, peers, and the importance of continued learning. Also, some of these students use online programs as part of their IEPs and if they had a laptop they would be able to continue working on their learning at home.

I also know that [REDACTED] has the laptops available, they just don't have approval to distribute them, which seems worse to hear that we are holding back resources from families who have requested the help.

I look forward to hearing from you to better understand this issue and how it can be addressed. Feel free to call or respond by email.

Best regards,

Academics and Continuity of Learning Plan

FCPS has developed a plan for continuity of learning while school is closed. Our goal is for students to read, write, communicate, and engage in continued learning experiences during this period. The first two weeks of school closure (Monday, March 16, to Friday, March 27) will not include any teacher-directed instruction.

As noted above, Governor Northam's order closing all K-12 schools for two weeks precludes us from offering teacher-led instruction during this period. There are also many legal requirements that public school divisions like FCPS must meet when requiring online learning that we are in the process of working to address so that all students will have access to distance learning. I hope to have more updates soon.

Students can participate in optional, self-directed learning activities posted on FCPS 24-7 Blackboard. This work will be neither required nor graded. Activities are across content areas so each child can choose activities that suit their interests. Additional information for families who need access to technology and connectivity will be provided soon.

Additionally, our FCPS cable television channels are now broadcasting learning activities. New instructional videos are currently being recorded and will be added to the programming lineup shortly. Channel 21 includes elementary school programming, Channel 25 includes middle school programming, and Channel 99 includes high school programming.

Khan Academy is offering resources to be used during the school closures to keep students engaged in learning activities – sign-up here. There is a webinar on Wednesday to assist parents with getting started. Also, Scholastic Learn at Home offers day-by-day articles and stories, videos, and fun learning challenges.

In the meantime, here are some tips to help you support your child during distance learning:

- Establish routines and expectations.
- Balance screen time and non-screen time activities.
- Students should take brain breaks and regularly move as they study.
- Discuss what your child is learning and ask questions.
- Establish times for quiet and reflection.
- Remain mindful of the stress of your child.

We had a teacher who was holding an open house on Blackboard and this happened as well as inappropriate comments. With Blackboard we do not have (that I am aware) a way of figuring out who the individuals might be. Just wondering what the county will do when this happens more often. For now we gave the teacher a new link. I'm happy to follow up with SBTS management. Let me know if you would like for me to do that.

Hi Maribeth,

I think you mean the meeting on 4/9th is during Spring Break? That won't interrupt programming on 21 because they are really slimming down ES content for next week. (Saving for the following week.) However, yes, we can absolutely move the meeting on the 16th to 99 and that is a good idea. We will just want to make sure that Lucy and John include that in the communication and possibly the graphic which provides the actual channel by provider? After next week's meeting on 21 maybe we can work on that communication? Unless you think they want to move to 99 asap?

Thank you in advance,

They are moving forward with the SB meeting on 4/16. I brought up the issue of interrupting ES instructional programming on Channel 21 before 4 pm. Fortunately it's Spring Break, but the question came up as to whether we could stream the Board meeting on Channel 99 instead of 21 since the ES programming is more important because high school students have more online resources on Blackboard.

Dear Lee District Families,

These are challenging times for all of us. This crisis has personally impacted me as this week our family lost a very dear friend due to complications caused by the Coronavirus.

I wanted to let you know that I am thinking of all of you and I am hopeful that our community's mitigation efforts will work to lessen the impact of this pandemic within our region.

I wish you and your family strength, hope and continued good health.

Tammy

Food Resources for Families

Yummy

Fairfax County Public Schools continues to help distribute meals throughout the county. To date, we have served over 190,000 meals.

Beginning Monday, April 6, all curbside pick-up and FCPS sites will distribute meals from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Both breakfast and lunch are available.

Check out the Fairfax County searchable map to find community food distribution sites, including FCPS grab and go locations, a bus route meal plan, community meal distribution sites, food pantries, and other related services.

For complete details, visit: <https://www.fcps.edu/news/coronavirus-update-food-resources>.

Laptops and MiFi's Distributed This Week

As of April 1, 6,417 laptops were distributed to middle and elementary school students with identified technology needs. Likewise, starting with high school, MiFi devices are being provided for students who do not have access to reliable internet.

Schools are working directly with the students and their families to coordinate the laptop distribution.

If your student is in need of a laptop, please check with your student's school. To stay updated on this and what's happening at your child's school, click here to sign-up for your school's newsletter.

Instruction and Distance Learning Plan

Teachers and school-based staff have begun preparing to engage students in distance learning on April 14. Various staff development activities were started this week to provide teachers with all the tools and materials they need to follow the Distance Learning Plan. Students have been contacted by various staff throughout this week.

Grade-level specific learning packets began arriving in students' mailboxes this week. These packets are also available to parents and students when they sign onto FCPS 24/7 Learning (Blackboard). The learning packets are an important part of the division's Distance Learning Plan and provide interesting activities for students in PreK-8. These packets do not need to be turned in and will not be graded.

Governor Northam Issues Statewide Stay-at-Home Order

As many of you know, the Virginia Governor issued a stay-at-home order earlier this week.

"We are in a public health crisis, and we need everyone to take this seriously and act responsibly," said Governor Northam. "Our message to Virginians is clear: stay home. We know this virus spreads primarily through human-to-human contact, and that's why it's so important that people follow this order and practice social distancing. I'm deeply grateful to everyone for their cooperation during this unprecedented and difficult time."

A Letter to the Class of 2020

Dear Lee District Seniors - Class of 2020

The Class of 2020 received a letter from Dr. Brabrand earlier this week. As he stated, none of us could have imagined this scenario to end your final semester with Fairfax County Public Schools.

I want to reiterate that I am also committed to finding a way to recognize and celebrate you and all of your accomplishments. Thank you for your continued patience and please keep up the hard work to finish your senior year strong.

Karen Corbett Sanders' Newsletter

Dear Families,

First, I hope all of you are doing well during this challenging time facing our community. As a parent, I share your concerns about the impact that this period of time will have on our children. It is in these challenging times that it is essential for all of us to work together to address the physical, social/emotional and academic needs of our students. I don't know of a single family that has not been touched by this pandemic, either by contracting COVID-19, losing a loved one, or losing a job. We understand the challenges of establishing new schedules for our families, and balancing the needs of the whole family during this extended period.

Virtual Town Hall

This Saturday, April 4th Supervisor Dan Storck and I will be hosting a virtual town hall to update the community on COVID-19. It will be telecast on Channels 16 and 21 at 10:00 a.m. We will be joined by FCPS Superintendent Dr. Brabrand and Fairfax County Director of Health, Dr. Gloria Addo-Ayensu.

Food Distribution

The leadership in FCPS is working hard to address the needs of our students and families in this very challenging time. We have delivered over 150,000 meals and will be distributing over 15,000 laptops to our older students who do not have digital access at home. Locations where food is being distributed can be found at: <https://www.fcps.edu/news/coronavirus-update-food-resources>. These services will continue to be provided over the spring break.

Distance Learning

Although our formal distance learning program will not begin until after spring break, I have been amazed at the number of people accessing the resources available on the FCPS web site. The content has been accessed almost 2 million times.

This week, our staff have been undergoing extensive professional development to ensure that when our students return to learn on April 14th, our professionals are able to provide tiered instruction utilizing both asynchronous (through print or electronic media) and synchronous instruction (through live classes using virtual meeting technology). Students in middle and high school will be encouraged to participate in Google work groups and virtual collaborative teams with their peers, and our elementary school teachers are using creative approaches to engage students and ensure relationships with and between our students continue to develop. Additionally, students in K-8 will be receiving learning packets at home, and content will be provided via Channel 21 and on-line through the Blackboard portal. There are also a number of resources available for non-core instructional classes such as physical education. For example, PBS is a good resource: <https://www.pbslearningmedia.org/subjects/health-and-physical-education/>.

Students will have until April 24th to complete all work for the third quarter. Although letter grades will not be assigned, students are expected to continue to engage in learning throughout the 4th quarter. Fourth quarter work will be used to assess mastery of the content and provide the opportunity for students to improve their overall grade for the year. More information on the distance learning plan can be found at Distance Learning Plan, and Distance Learning Plan for Students with Disabilities.

AP and IB Exams

Students enrolled in AP classes will be notified about the modified schedule for exams when the College Board releases its modified exam schedule. The International Baccalaureate exams have been cancelled. IB awards will be based on internal and external assessments and students should reach out to their school's coordinators to ensure they have materials submitted in a timely manner.

Graduating Seniors

I know how difficult this time is for our graduating seniors. You have worked so hard and were looking forward to the traditions and celebrations that typify the last quarter of the year. Please know that we are committed to ensuring that your hard work is recognized. Superintendent Brabrand sent out the attached letter <https://www.fcps.edu/blog/message-superintendent-class-2020> to the senior class yesterday. We are looking at a multitude of options for ensuring you are celebrated. Once we have more clarity as to when the community will be able to return to more normal operations, we will be providing more information on how we can formally celebrate the successes of our amazing seniors.

Resources Available for our Families

Fairfax County has a number of resources available to our families as we navigate these challenging times. These resources can be found at: www.fcps.edu and www.fairfaxcounty.gov/covid19/.

With the governor's order that Virginia schools remain closed as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic, FCPS has resources available to meet the academic, social, and emotional needs of students.

Beginning this past Monday, March 30, 2020, any FCPS parent may schedule a 30-minute phone consultation with a school psychologist or school social worker, for either themselves or their middle or high school student. This consultation provides an opportunity for parents to receive guidance on how to support their student's emotional well-being during their time away from school. Student consultations will provide support and strategies to students who may be experiencing difficulties with anxiety, mood, behavior, or peer or family interactions during this unprecedented and challenging time. Information about community resources will also be made available. To schedule a phone consultation, parents should click the following link: <https://forms.gle/WKchwGnv4LkezQwG8>.

This service is not intended for mental health emergencies. If an emergency is suspected or indicated, please call 911. Additionally, students and families can access mental health support if there is a crisis of emergency during the time of the closure.

Budget Impacts

COVID-19 has impacted the county and state finances significantly. As a result, what had been expected to be another fully funded budget will result in the County and Schools redoing our budgets. On April 7, the County Executive will release his new budget proposal. The School Board will have a virtual meeting on April 9th at 10:00 a.m. to discuss the revised plan of the County and the Superintendent's initial thoughts on how our budget may have to be adjusted. The meeting will be streamed live and be broadcast on Channel 21.

Please know that I am here for you and your family. Together, we will get through this very challenging time. Please stay safe and take time for yourselves and your families.

Hello all

I wanted to send you another summary of questions from constituents (see attached). I am not looking for you to send detailed answers to me but perhaps expand the FAQs if these are not already answered. I've been telling people that FCPS is adding to FAQs as best we can and to keep checking back. I am sure you are hearing some of these same things.

The one I want to flag is whether we can use our 3D printers to help make PPE. Any chance we can find a way adults and/or trusted teens to take these machines home to use in a safe way? I know an [REDACTED] parents who is using his 3D printers to make PPE for health care workers and several students have also offered to help. I've had several people ask me about this.

Thank you for all your hard work! I know you are working around the clock and you are all doing an excellent job.

Hi Tracey-

Glad we had the opportunity to email back and forth about this a bit today. Thanks for the additional information on your timeline and process, it was helpful. Below is a summary of exactly where we are at. Essentially, as you can imagine at this point, we are assuming a lot of costs. If possible, IT would appreciate seeing a draft of anything relevant to our department as you are prepping/reviewing. I'm also available to talk more if you have questions.

Over the past three weeks, IT has worked to acquire 2,100 student MiFis (some of which are on backorder) as well as the considerable initial data we anticipate students will need to participate fulling in distance learning activities. IT has also supported schools and departments with the acquisition of additional tools and resources to meet the demands of educators and support staff working from home. We anticipate that our utility, equipment and computer lease (including one-time) budgets will be fully expended. IT is ready to support additional technology and service needs identified by instructional leaders, however, until FCPS works through all facets of distance learning, and the program begins, IT is unable to accurately project all the associated technology and service costs that will be required to fully support online learning. Once known, additional needs will be projected and shared.

Hi Michelle,

Sorry to bother you while you are busy but budget is working on a request from the school board where we are trying to determine FY20 COVID-19 related costs and savings. Since we are now in a distance learning environment which requires more IT support, I thought there may be some changes to your projections for FY20. Right now we are assuming you will spend all your funding and leave no fallout (see assumptions below) but please let me know if this is not correct. Also please let me know if you think additional IT funding will be needed to support the COVID-19 related changes. And finally is there anything you need from me?

Thanks!

Tracey

FY20 assumptions:

IT related equipment – Q4 spend will be about $640.5K with no fallout money.

Computer leases – Q4 spend will be about $4.28M (including REOC and MS teacher laptops) and will leave no fall out money here either.

Good afternoon- Please see request from reporter for a quote (or an interview if anyone can spare time) regarding challenges and discoveries of distance learning preparations:

I'm writing an article for the Fort Belvoir newspaper about everyone getting thrown in the deep end of the distance learning pool, as it were. I'd love an opportunity to speak with someone (or even be provided a quote) about the challenges and discoveries of this incredible moment in learning.

Feel free to call him directly OR please send a quote to me and I'll coordinate and send along to him. I think this is a good spot to highlight our FCPSOn, perhaps? And to set expectations that this won't be easy and far from ideal....as there is no replacement for teacher-led, classroom learning. Apparently, he is Tracy Soular's neighbor, BTW. Thanks! Lucy

I don't have much to add except the meeting app the county is using for the "warm handoff" between the HS substance abuse prevention (SAP) counselors and maybe one or 2 alcohol, Tobacco and other drugs (ATOD) and CSB is called Cisco Meeting app (CMA). The county provides our counselors under the management of Stefan 1 meeting room each. The county contact is Amante Bustamante. I was under the impression DSS was meeting with the county, but when I followed up, there didn't seem to be a tangible progress/information about a tool they could use under the county umbrella. I don't know who was involved on the FCG side, so it could have been a very different group of folks.

HIPAA additional

As Tom mentioned in Connie's feedback #1, in MOST cases HIPAA does not apply to FCPS as a whole. A 2008 memo between HHS and Dept of ED provided joint guidance that treats most student health information as an education record. This guidance was update just this past December.

As Connie mentions in #2, for providers (for whom HIPAA applies) their employer provides the platform. In our conversations in the last 2 weeks with Stephanie Gary's office, they mentioned that the county had a HIPAA compliant platform-but they were not able to identify which one it was.

There are probably going to be two – (or three) groups of people:

1-FCPS employees that are covered under the memo and do not need to use a HIPAA compliant platform (FERPA applies). For this group it might help to communicate that while they may deal with health information, they are required to follow FERPA, not HIPAA so collaborate and G Suite are OK to use.

2-Our Service providers which are Covered Entities. It would probably help if we could identify these people and verify the tools that they are using.

3-Any other cases not in 1 or 2.

Lastly regarding G Suite (and specifically Google Meet), I wanted to touch on HIPAA compliance. G Suite is not HIPAA compliant "out of the box". It can be configure that way and as the G Suite admin I can log in and countersign the Business Associate Agreement (BAA). I have copied the BAA test into a google doc HERE in case it is useful at some point.

The HIPAA configuration guide is extensive and goes thru the configuration changes than need to be done for Google to act as a Business Associate. I have kept familiar with the topic, but since this has never been a formal request I can't offer an off the top of my head analysis of it could be done today in our current environment or what if any tradeoff there might be.

I did a cursory glance thru this tonight and the big changes seem to be shutting off google plus, google contacts and all non-core services for any user that needs HIPAA compliance. This would be done by shutting them off for the whole domain, or by treating these users an exception and moving them outside of the structure of automated account management in Google.

There may be setting requirements within the individual services that might be different from our current settings that support the 250k users in G Suite. Though from a quick read, most of what I am seeing is lock down guidance that we currently meet or exceed.

I would be happy to investigate this if it would be useful, just let me know.

Regards,
Jim

Jim, please proceed, but I'll include some info that Connie has provided, from a side communication we had stemming from a separate email regarding HIPAA.

1. FCPS employees, such as resource teachers, etc. are not covered under HIPAA. HIPAA made special exemptions for educational institutions. FCPS as a whole is not a HIPAA CE (Covered Entity).
2. For a Speech Pathologist or other providers, who bill for their services, their employer (such as county) should have a HIPAA compliant platform. If the provider is an individual contractor, then he or she is his own business entity.
3. The key to HIPAA compliance is not the platform itself, it is the BAA (Business Associate Agreement) established between the vendor and CE. A lot of teleconferencing tools use HIPAA compliant technology, but the provider must have a BAA agreement with the teleconferencing provider. The employer of the therapist is the CE in this case, and needs to enter into the BAA agreement with the teleconferencing vendor for it to be HIPAA compliant. If the provider is a sole proprietor, then he or she is the Covered Entity and should sign the BAA with his/her chosen teleconferencing provider.

Hello all

I wanted to send you another summary of questions from constituents (see attached). I am not looking for you to send detailed answers to me but perhaps expand the FAQs if these are not already answered. I've been telling people that FCPS is adding to FAQs as best we can and to keep checking back. I am sure you are hearing some of these same things.

The one I want to flag is whether we can use our 3D printers to help make PPE. Any chance we can find a way adults and/or trusted teens to take these machines home to use in a safe way? I know an [REDACTED] parents who is using his 3D printers to make PPE for health care workers and several students have also offered to help. I've had several people ask me about this.

I don't have much to add except the meeting app the county is using for the "warm handoff" between the HS substance abuse prevention (SAP) counselors and maybe one or 2 alcohol, Tobacco and other drugs (ATOD) and CSB is called Cisco Meeting app (CMA). The county provides our counselors under the management of Stefan 1 meeting room each. The county contact is Amante Bustamante. I was under the impression DSS was meeting with the county, but when I followed up, there didn't seem to be an tangible progress/information about a tool they could use under the county umbrella. I don't know who was involved on the FCG side, so it could have been a very different group of folks.

As Tom mentioned in Connie's feedback #1, in MOST cases HIPAA does not apply to FCPS as a whole. A 2008 memo between HHS and Dept of ED provided joint guidance that treats most student health information as an education record. This guidance was update just this past December.

As Connie mentions in #2, for providers (for whom HIPAA applies) their employer provides the platform. In our conversations in the last 2 weeks with Stephanie Gary's office, they mentioned that the county had a HIPAA compliant platform-but they were not able to identify which one it was.

There are probably going to be two – (or three) groups of people:

1-FCPS employees that are covered under the memo and do not need to use a HIPAA compliant platform (FERPA applies). For this group it might help to communicate that while they may deal with health information, they are required to follow FERPA, not HIPAA so collaborate and G Suite are OK to use.

2-Our Service providers which are Covered Entities. It would probably help if we could identify these people and verify the tools that they are using.

3-Any other cases not in 1 or 2.

Lastly regarding G Suite (and specifically Google Meet), I wanted to touch on HIPAA compliance. G Suite is not HIPAA compliant “out of the box”. It can be configure that way and as the G Suite admin I can log in and countersign the Business Associate Agreement (BAA). I have copied the BAA test into a google doc HERE in case it is useful at some point.

The HIPAA configuration guide is extensive and goes thru the configuration changes than need to be done for Google to act as a Business Associate. I have kept familiar with the topic, but since this has never been a formal request I can’t offer an off the top of my head analysis of it could be done today in our current environment or what if any tradeoff there might be.

I did a cursory glance thru this tonight and the big changes seem to be shutting off google plus, google contacts and all non-core services for any user that needs HIPAA compliance. This would be done by shutting them off for the whole domain, or by treating these users an exception and moving them outside of the structure of automated account management in Google.

There may be setting requirements within the individual services that might be different from our current settings that support the 250k users in G Suite. Though from a quick read, most of what I am seeing is lock down guidance that we currently meet or exceed.

I would be happy to investigate this if it would be useful, just let me know.

Regards,
Jim

HIPAA additional

As Tom mentioned in Connie's feedback #1, in MOST cases HIPAA does not apply to FCPS as a whole. A 2008 memo between HHS and Dept of ED provided joint guidance that treats most student health information as an education record. This guidance was update just this past December.

As Connie mentions in #2, for providers (for whom HIPAA applies) their employer provides the platform. In our conversations in the last 2 weeks with Stephanie Gary's office, they mentioned that the county had a HIPAA compliant platform-but they were not able to identify which one it was.

There are probably going to be two – (or three) groups of people:

1-FCPS employees that are covered under the memo and do not need to use a HIPAA compliant platform (FERPA applies). For this group it might help to communicate that while they may deal with health information, they are required to follow FERPA, not HIPAA so collaborate and G Suite are OK to use.

2-Our Service providers which are Covered Entities. It would probably help if we could identify these people and verify the tools that they are using.

3-Any other cases not in 1 or 2.

Lastly regarding G Suite (and specifically Google Meet), I wanted to touch on HIPAA compliance. G Suite is not HIPAA compliant "out of the box". It can be configure that way and as the G Suite admin I can log in and countersign the Business Associate Agreement (BAA). I have copied the BAA test into a google doc HERE in case it is useful at some point.

The HIPAA configuration guide is extensive and goes thru the configuration changes than need to be done for Google to act as a Business Associate. I have kept familiar with the topic, but since this has never been a formal request I can't offer an off the top of my head analysis of it could be done today in our current environment or what if any tradeoff there might be.

I did a cursory glance thru this tonight and the big changes seem to be shutting off google plus, google contacts and all non-core services for any user that needs HIPAA compliance. This would be done by shutting them off for the whole domain, or by treating these users an exception and moving them outside of the structure of automated account management in Google.

There may be setting requirements within the individual services that might be different from our current settings that support the 250k users in G Suite. Though from a quick read, most of what I am seeing is lock down guidance that we currently meet or exceed.

I would be happy to investigate this if it would be useful, just let me know.

Regards,
Jim

Jim, please proceed, but I'll include some info that Connie has provided, from a side communication we had stemming from a separate email regarding HIPAA.

1. FCPS employees, such as resource teachers, etc. are not covered under HIPAA. HIPAA made special exemptions for educational institutions. FCPS as a whole is not a HIPAA CE (Covered Entity).
2. For a Speech Pathologist or other providers, who bill for their services, their employer (such as county) should have a HIPAA compliant platform. If the provider is an individual contractor, then he or she is his own business entity.
3. The key to HIPAA compliance is not the platform itself, it is the BAA (Business Associate Agreement) established between the vendor and CE. A lot of teleconferencing tools use HIPAA compliant technology, but the provider must have a BAA agreement with the teleconferencing provider. The employer of the therapist is the CE in this case, and needs to enter into the BAA agreement with the teleconferencing vendor for it to be HIPAA compliant. If the provider is a sole proprietor, then he or she is the Covered Entity and should sign the BAA with his/her chosen teleconferencing provider.

Maribeth,

Regarding Accessibility

- Closed captioning: Closed captioning issues on BB collaborate rather than Google Hangout. Some are telling me Google hangouts/classroom captions lectures automatically but BB collaborate does not and requires teachers to manually upload to youtube for captioning. Is this true? If so, can teachers use Google classroom or hangouts for lectures?
  - o There are a few points of clarification to make here. Both Blackboard and Google platforms support some form of closed captioning, but in different ways and it depends on what the outcome is real time captioning vs captioning of the saved video file.
    - Google Meet can create real time captions, and it can create recordings BUT the captions do not transfer to the recordings, they are only visible in real time. To caption a file for asynchronous use, the teacher would still need to upload the video file to YouTube for automated captioning.
    - Blackboard Collaborate: Blackboard does not support automated captioning, it supports human live captioning. There is a role where a professional captioner is invited to the meeting as a special type of moderator.

And while Google Meet may have this one feature that may be appealing, we looked at the sum total of the parts (instructional tools, security, supportability et) and there is a lot that would be given up moving a class from Collaborate to Meet and we did not feel that the tradeoffs were warranted. I have a detailed analysis of this if we need to go there.

Regarding HIPAA

Blackboard: HIPAA Disclaimer in Blackboard Collaborate Terms of Use:
https://help.blackboard.com/Terms\_of\_Use

The Google Meet HIPAA question is a little bit more involved, I will get to that shortly, but I have made a commitment to be on a CoSN conference call for the next hour, so I will get to this right after that is over.

The version of Zoom that is HIPAA compliant is not the same as what some folks can always use for free, or what is being offered to schools for free til July. It is a different product

Thanks

Jim

Hello all

I wanted to send you another summary of questions from constituents (see attached). I am not looking for you to send detailed answers to me but perhaps expand the FAQs if these are not already answered. I've been telling people that FCPS is adding to FAQs as best we can and to keep checking back. I am sure you are hearing some of these same things.

The one I want to flag is whether we can use our 3D printers to help make PPE. Any chance we can find a way adults and/or trusted teens to take these machines home to use in a safe way? I know an [REDACTED] parents who is using his 3D printers to make PPE for health care workers and several students have also offered to help. I've had several people ask me about this.

Thank you for all your hard work! I know you are working around the clock and you are all doing an excellent job.

Dear PTA Leaders,

What a year this past two weeks have been. :-)
We've all had a sip from the fire hose of stress, uncertainty and ever-changing information.
Here's a quick update to help your PTA navigate our strange new world through June 10!

Distance Learning Begins This Week

On Friday FCPS announced its distance learning plan and you should expect to see the first of a series of weekly learning packets in the mail this week. Please keep in mind that 16,000 classroom teachers and support staff are turning on a dime to reconnect with and instruct 189,000 students using formats that cannot replace the in-person classroom experience. Parents should review the Distance Learning Plan and remain in touch with classroom teachers and principals as we move forward. Please keep in mind that many teachers also have school-age children at home, and may themselves need to care for loved ones as the Coronavirus continues to spread. Please ask your parents to proceed with as much grace as possible. The full plan is here.

Supporting Our Schools

Many PTAs are searching for ways to support their schools. Some have promoted virtual spirit weeks and community-wide searches for shamrocks, teddy bears and letters of the alphabet. Some have been in touch with principals to provide food and financial assistance. And some are looking for ways to adapt Teacher/Staff Appreciation Weeks (current officers are invited to join the conversation on our Best Practices Facebook Group).

A high-impact, virtual and no-cost way to support teachers and staff is to send personal emails of thanks and appreciation – and cc each person's supervisor. All parents can do this – and don't forget to thank your principals and other school staff! You can also send thanks to your school board member – they've been incredibly busy listening to the community and sharing feedback with the FCPS leadership team! You can encourage your parents to do this now, throughout the spring, or during a certain week (given the stress of launching the new distance learning plan, sooner might be better!).

Virginia PTA Supports You

Thank you to Virginia PTA President Donna Columbo and her leadership team for granting allowance for our local PTAs to hold virtual general membership meetings, which allows us to vote and hold regularly scheduled elections. Last week Donna emailed a comprehensive message which you can read here. Please take advantage of Virtual Meeting Training with President-Elect Pam Croom on April 1. Please register for training at noon or 7 p.m.

GoToMeeting

The response to our offer for free GoToMeeting licenses was overwhelming and we are working on securing more licenses. You are not required to use this format. If you did not receive an email from LogMeIn or GoToMeeting to set up your license (which enables you to organize videoconferences), please email Jane Miscavage at president@fccpta.org.

Elections

If your Nominating Committee has presented a slate (or will be able to on your timeframe), your PTA may hold your previously scheduled elections using a virtual meeting. Your bylaws should stipulate that current officers remain in office until new candidates are elected, and we know some PTAs are considering whether to postpone their elections until school restarts. However, given that videoconferencing requires us to be intentional and organized when meeting, we think this format might give Executive Boards an advantage when it comes to transitioning new officers. The cancellation of school and other family activities is freeing up evening schedules, and we anticipate more people being available to connect and give full attention to issues concerning your PTA plans.

If you have questions about elections following Virginia PTA's training, please contact Jane Miscavage, president@fccpta.org or Kara Jenkins, vp.outreach@fccpta.org.

Hi Tracey-

Glad we had the opportunity to email back and forth about this a bit today. Thanks for the additional information on your timeline and process, it was helpful. Below is a summary of exactly where we are at. Essentially, as you can imagine at this point, we are assuming a lot of costs. If possible, IT would appreciate seeing a draft of anything relevant to our department as you are prepping/reviewing. I'm also available to talk more if you have questions.

Over the past three weeks, IT has worked to acquire 2,100 student MiFis (some of which are on backorder) as well as the considerable initial data we anticipate students will need to participate fulling in distance learning activities. IT has also supported schools and departments with the acquisition of additional tools and resources to meet the demands of educators and support staff working from home. We anticipate that our utility, equipment and computer lease (including one-time) budgets will be fully expended. IT is ready to support additional technology and service needs identified by instructional leaders, however, until FCPS works through all facets of distance learning, and the program begins, IT is unable to accurately project all the associated technology and service costs that will be required to fully support online learning. Once known, additional needs will be projected and shared.

Hi Michelle,

Sorry to bother you while you are busy but budget is working on a request from the school board where we are trying to determine FY20 COVID-19 related costs and savings. Since we are now in a distance learning environment which requires more IT support, I thought there may be some changes to your projections for FY20. Right now we are assuming you will spend all your funding and leave no fallout (see assumptions below) but please let me know if this is not correct. Also please let me know if you think additional IT funding will be needed to support the COVID-19 related changes. And finally is there anything you need from me?

Thanks!

Tracey

FY20 assumptions:

IT related equipment – Q4 spend will be about $640.5K with no fallout money.

Computer leases – Q4 spend will be about $4.28M (including REOC and MS teacher laptops) and will leave no fall out money here either.

Thanks Maribeth,

I will copy you and Tracey on my response back to budget so they know it's final.

Understood on the computers. Tracey and I were emailing earlier today about the ES TLR (the ¼ this year that we are purchasing outright). The FS warehouse has kindly agreed to store them for us – so that order will go out early next week. We also have the rest of the REOC list to return to (we will have some serious logistics to work out on those orders because they are numerous, small, and across many locations), but I'm hoping next week is a little calmer so we can tackle that. Then we'll return to our available balance spreadsheet and update it reflecting everything we've spent on COVID-19 response and tech so we all have an understanding of where we are at and can look at options.

Thanks,
Michelle.

Maribeth and Tracey-

I was contacted by two different groups in finance (budget and comptrollers) today about projections for our budget. It looks like they recognize that IT is expending considerable resources – while also looking for cost savings to present to the school Board. I'm reaching out to you because budget is looking for information from us by early tomorrow so they can create their "COVID-19 cost/savings analysis” for the SB work session on April 9 . I know that we have expended more than anticipated on mifis and data (but monopole funding is in process from FTS). I have also heard about expansions to other applications, but it sounds like that hasn’t been finalized. We have covered all other costs so far within our budget (and may see fewer computer orders in the coming months). We do have the option of responding that we don’t have enough information on what student needs will be as distance learning starts to accurately project additional costs or savings.

Here's my proposed draft to send back:

Over the past three weeks, IT has worked to acquire 2,100 student MiFis (some of which are on backorder) as well as the considerable initial data we anticipate students will need to participate fulling in distance learning activities. IT has also supported schools and departments with the acquisition of additional tools and resources to meet the demands of educators and support staff working from home. ### Family Letter from Dr. Brabrand – Friday, 4/3? Or Monday 4/6?

Dear FCPS Families,

I hope that you and your loved ones are staying healthy and maintaining a positive outlook during this challenging time. I have two high school-aged sons and understand that disruptions to family routines and uncertainty about the future can be overwhelming at times. Being kind to yourself is critical. As the saying goes, you can't pour from an empty cup.

I truly believe better days are ahead. All of us at FCPS are excited about engaging our students in a new way of learning, while ensuring they have access to supports to help maximize their efforts.

But first, I'd like to update you on what's been happening around FCPS this week. Teachers began training for implementation of distance learning. They virtually reported to work and used the week to collaborate and plan. This is a shift in the way we work as educators and the way your students work as learners. With that in mind, instructional staff are being thoughtful in their planning, so your student's learning experience is clear and accessible.

Teachers have also been reconnecting with students, and that's been amazing to see! Our teachers have felt a deep sense of loss since school buildings closed. They truly miss their students! After reconnecting with them virtually, teachers are discovering how much they are missed, too.

With FCPS' Distance Learning Plan starting on Tuesday, April 14, we realize there is a lot of information to process, and you may have questions about how to begin. Our Instructional Services Department is working on an easy-to-digest webpage with simple strategies to support families during this transition. That site will be available [soon? Next week?]. We also encourage you to reach out to your child's teacher(s), school counselor, and school administrators with questions.

In the interim, please see the following about the distance learning plan, grading, and spring break:

Distance Learning Plan

Beginning April 14, teachers will work with students using a variety of methods including:

- Blackboard Collaborate Ultra (link provided from teacher to student).
- Google Meet for individual student meetings.
- Google Classrooms.
- Weekly learning packets. They will be mailed to preK-8 students/families from FCPS' Instructional Services Department.
- Email and phone calls.

Students should be checking their FCPS Gmail account (that ends in @fcpschools.net) regularly. Teachers will also hold virtual office hours for students Mondays-Fridays. They will share those office hours soon, if they haven't already. Please review the Distance Learning Plan at your convenience.

FCPS Blackboard 24-7 Learning is where teachers post messages for students and parents. Blackboard and Google Classroom are the two FCPS-approved digital platforms for instructional delivery and where students will be able to video conference, collaborate, and complete assignments.

Grading Guidelines

- Third quarter is still open for students to complete work that was assigned or scheduled before March 13. Students will have until April 24 to complete missing or outstanding work that will help them improve their third quarter grades.
- No student work assigned after March 13 will be graded, at the recommendation of the Virginia Department of Education (VDOE).
- Learning activities will be assigned to students for 4th quarter, and teachers will provide students with feedback on this work. All high school and middle school students will receive a "No Mark" for 4th quarter, due to the unique nature of these circumstances.

FCPS will use maximum flexibility in assessing and evaluating student learning for the remainder of the school year. To that end, assignments submitted in the 4th quarter can positively influence students' overall grade for the year, based on their understanding of the content for the whole year or "mastery of learning," in accordance with the FCPS grading policy. Only final grades will be shown on transcripts; the "No Mark" for 4th quarter will not show on a student's final transcript.

No 4th quarter grades will be assigned to elementary students due to equity issues of access to technology and limited student ability to submit work during distance learning. Elementary students will engage in teacher-led and independent learning. Learning packets were distributed by mail to all PK-6 students earlier this week. Literacy and math content is also available on FCPS Cable Channel 21.

As we transition to this distance learning model, we remain focused on the social and emotional needs of our students. Again, please do not hesitate to reach out to your student's school counselor for support, if needed.

Spring Break

Lastly, I want to share a little bit of what's been on my mind the last several days. As I have said, these are extraordinary times we are living in. To be a student, a parent, or a teacher—and some of you play several roles—during a worldwide health emergency like COVID-19, is not something any of us have ever experienced. We know it is stressful and difficult.

Next week is spring break. It's usually a time when students and teachers look forward to a well-deserved break from all of the hard work they have been doing in school. Things are certainly different this year, but I hope you will each take time to be good to yourself. Take some time to unwind. Do something you enjoy. Get some exercise and fresh air. (Keep social distancing in mind, of course.)

When students begin distance learning after spring break, it won't be the same as in-person instruction. We know that will be a big change. Change can be hard, but together, we will prevail.

Please remember that Fairfax County Public Schools remains committed to creating learning environments that foster creative thinking, a culture of caring, and personal connections. Our school buildings may be closed, but I am confident that the passion for learning in all of us will thrive.

Be safe, be healthy, and know that we are here to support you in the days ahead.

Sincerely,

Scott Brabrand
Superintendent

Hello Hayfield Hawk Families,

These are unprecedented times! I am so proud of all the HSS and FCPS staff that have worked so hard to prepare for the rest of the school year. I know I speak for all of our teachers and staff when I say that we are very excited to welcome you back to school on April 14, 2020. We have missed you, and we look forward to reconnecting. Please carefully read this News You Choose as there is a lot of information that you will need in the coming weeks. Please save this email as it contains links, information, and important upcoming events.

As you will see, embedded below is a link that will lead you to a video that discusses how to navigate and use Blackboard Ultra; it is titled Online Learning 101. Please have your student log in to their fcpschools.net email to view together. The video is about 3 minutes long and is packed with great information. The video will also be linked to our website for future viewing.

You will also find a visual of what the virtual learning week will look like, as well as more tips on how to be successful. These will also be linked to our website. Please note that all classes 7-12 will meet on Tuesday (Orange Day) and Thursday (White day). We have a considerable number of teachers that teach both middle and high school students, so remaining on the same schedule is imperative.

I will be hosting a virtual Parent Coffee in conjunction with our PTSA on Thursday, April 9 at 6:30 pm via a Blackboard Collaborate platform. Details to join the virtual meeting will be sent out next week. This meeting will be recorded and posted for those that cannot join.

Stay well and distanced!

Best,

Martin Grimm

Q and A

How are students who are placed in a private school through the IEP process provided with educational services during the school closure?

FCPS has received multiple client communications about services for students who are placed in private settings through the IEP process. These placements are funded by CSA (Children's Services Act) office through state and local (Fairfax County) funding. FCPS only covers the cost of transportation.

Multi-Agency Services (MAS) has been collaborating with each individual private placement to support their development of a distance learning plan. The non-public schools in the state and surrounding areas are subject to regional directives for school closure. Many of our contract schools have already implemented distance learning, or are busy creating ways to support students virtually. FCPS has offered support, guidance and our resources in the development of these plans. Communication with our MAS families has been facilitated through their individual case managers as well as joint communication from other FCPS staff and private providers.

Coordination with VDOE, the Office Children's Services state agency and our local Fairfax – Falls Church Children's Services Act Office, has led to correspondence about how the locality will continue to fund virtual learning plans for students with IEPs placed in non-public schools. FCPS and our local CSA was a leader in the state during this school closure time advocating for continued funding of private service providers. The initial funding commitment was distributed on March 20, 2020. An additional correspondence from CSA is forthcoming and will continue to support non-public schools as they offer distance learning to our FCPS students. Right now, MAS staff is collaborating with IT to develop a plan for student access to technology devices and online resources for those who may not currently have access.

Why will students not be graded during the 4th quarter?

Following VDOE guidance, FCPS has decided that any work that is assigned while schools are closed will not be graded. This decision was made to be fair and equitable to all students.

Even though there will be no "official" grades during fourth quarter, teachers will be providing feedback to students so they know how they are doing. Distance learning will be a new experience for everyone. All students are encouraged to reach out to their teachers and school counselors when they have questions throughout the rest of the school year. The virtual office hours will be a great time to connect with individual questions.

Although the fourth quarter grade will be No Mark (NM), at the end of the year, final letter grades will be based on a student's understanding of the content for the whole year or "mastery of learning." Three quarters worth of grades will be used to calculate the final grade. Teachers will look at trends in how a student shows their understanding and learning to benefit the student. In other words, if a student was improving all year long, that improvement can help bring up the final grade.

No fourth quarter grades will be assigned to elementary students due to equity issues of access to technology and limited student ability to submit work during distance learning. Elementary students will engage in teacher-led and independent learning. Learning packets will be distributed by mail to all PK-6 students beginning the week of March 30. Literacy and math content will also be made available on FCPS Cable Channel 21 beginning the week of March 30.

Can community members continue to access athletic fields, playgrounds, and other outdoor facilities?

Family Letter from Dr. Brabrand – Friday, 4/3? Or Monday 4/6?

Dear FCPS Families,

I hope that you and your loved ones are staying healthy and maintaining a positive outlook during this challenging time. I have two high school-aged sons and understand that disruptions to family routines and uncertainty about the future can be overwhelming at times. Being kind to yourself is critical. As the saying goes, you can't pour from an empty cup.

I truly believe better days are ahead. All of us at FCPS are excited about engaging our students in a new way of learning, while ensuring they have access to supports to help maximize their efforts.

But first, I'd like to update you on what's been happening around FCPS this week. Teachers began training for implementation of distance learning. They virtually reported to work and used the week to collaborate and plan. This is a shift in the way we work as educators and the way your students work as learners. With that in mind, instructional staff are being thoughtful in their planning, so your student's learning experience is clear and accessible.

Teachers have also been reconnecting with students, and that's been amazing to see! Our teachers have felt a deep sense of loss since school buildings closed. They truly miss their students! After reconnecting with them virtually, teachers are discovering how much they are missed, too.

With FCPS' Distance Learning Plan starting on Tuesday, April 14, we realize there is a lot of information to process, and you may have questions about how to begin. Our Instructional Services Department is working on an easy-to-digest webpage with simple strategies to support families during this transition. That site will be available [soon? Next week?]. We also encourage you to reach out to your child's teacher(s), school counselor, and school administrators with questions.

In the interim, please see the following about the distance learning plan, grading, and spring break:

Distance Learning Plan

Beginning April 14, teachers will work with students using a variety of methods including:

- Blackboard Collaborate Ultra (link provided from teacher to student).
- Google Meet for individual student meetings.
- Google Classrooms.
- Weekly learning packets. They will be mailed to preK-8 students/families from FCPS' Instructional Services Department.
- Email and phone calls.

Students should be checking their FCPS Gmail account (that ends in @fcpschools.net) regularly. Teachers will also hold virtual office hours for students Mondays-Fridays. They will share those office hours soon, if they haven't already. Please review the Distance Learning Plan at your convenience.

FCPS Blackboard 24-7 Learning is where teachers post messages for students and parents. Blackboard and Google Classroom are the two FCPS-approved digital platforms for instructional delivery and where students will be able to video conference, collaborate, and complete assignments.

Grading Guidelines

- Third quarter is still open for students to complete work that was assigned or scheduled before March 13. Students will have until April 24 to complete missing or outstanding work that will help them improve their third quarter grades.
- No student work assigned after March 13 will be graded, at the recommendation of the Virginia Department of Education (VDOE).

Learning activities will be assigned to students for 4th quarter, and teachers will provide students with feedback on this work. All high school and middle school students will receive a "No Mark" for 4th quarter, due to the unique nature of these circumstances.

FCPS will use maximum flexibility in assessing and evaluating student learning for the remainder of the school year. To that end, assignments submitted in the 4th quarter can positively influence students' overall grade for the year, based on their understanding of the content for the whole year or "mastery of learning," in accordance with the FCPS grading policy. Only final grades will be shown on transcripts; the "No Mark" for 4th quarter will not show on a student's final transcript.

No 4th quarter grades will be assigned to elementary students due to equity issues of access to technology and limited student ability to submit work during distance learning. Elementary students will engage in teacher-led and independent learning. Learning packets were distributed by mail to all PK-6 students earlier this week. Literacy and math content is also available on FCPS Cable Channel 21.

As we transition to this distance learning model, we remain focused on the social and emotional needs of our students. Again, please do not hesitate to reach out to your student's school counselor for support, if needed.

Spring Break

Lastly, I want to share a little bit of what's been on my mind the last several days. As I have said, these are extraordinary times we are living in. To be a student, a parent, or a teacher—and some of you play several roles—during a worldwide health emergency like COVID-19, is not something any of us have ever experienced. We know it is stressful and difficult.

Next week is spring break. It's usually a time when students and teachers look forward to a well-deserved break from all of the hard work they have been doing in school. Things are certainly different this year, but I hope you will each take time to be good to yourself. Take some time to unwind. Do something you enjoy. Get some exercise and fresh air. (Keep social distancing in mind, of course.)

When students begin distance learning after spring break, it won't be the same as in-person instruction. We know that will be a big change. Change can be hard, but together, we will prevail.

Please remember that Fairfax County Public Schools remains committed to creating learning environments that foster creative thinking, a culture of caring, and personal connections. Our school buildings may be closed, but I am confident that the passion for learning in all of us will thrive.

Be safe, be healthy, and know that we are here to support you in the days ahead.

Sincerely,

Scott Brabrand
Superintendent

Subject: RE: Laptops

Hi Jane... we are having multiple discussions on this in the background. We believe that many of these students may have a concurrent enrollment status in the system, which means that they would have an established FCPS log-in to be able to get into the laptop at all. If not, we may have a work around. Here are the questions we're trying to answer to help us find the best solution:

- Just to confirm my understanding... the programs/schools in which these students participate have no obligation to provide a device. That responsibility rests solely with FCPS.
Some schools have attempted to fill this need however, the obligation remains with FCPS. Many of the schools are limited in resources and very small .
- The success of our current distribution is contingent on the fact that we have a focused distance learning plan around Blackboard, Google, and online textbooks. We know our laptops can support that. Will these students follow the FCPS distance learning plan, or will they follow various plans according to their schools? Application support or ongoing tech support could become an issue if it is the latter.
Our students enrolled in private day will follow the individual distance learning plans created by the school they attend.
- Can you verify that all of these students are concurrently enrolled in MAS and FCPS schools? If they are, they likely have the log-in accounts we need already assigned to them.
Not all of them are concurrently enrolled. However, MAS is its own school in SIS (997). They all, with very few exceptions were enrolled in an FCPS school prior to placement in MAS and, therefore, should have logins or the ability to have one.
- We would need to follow the existing distribution process, which has been approved by the health department. Adam, here is the sample elementary plan for principal planning. It does require some work from the administrative team on the front end.
  1. Verify with the parent that the student does indeed have a need for technology. (i.e. does the family already have it? Is the private school able to provide it?)
  2. Ask the parent to verify permission for the student to be assigned a laptop. (fill out an electronic laptop permission form, if possible)
  3. Ask the pre-screening questions to verify that the parent and student could come get a laptop, if available.

4. Set up a specific appointment for that parent to come pick up the laptop.
- We would likely have to pick one or two sites for distribution and schedule families by appointment for pick-up. Again, the sample elementary distribution process outlines what it would have to look like to abide by health department guidelines.

I will look at the distribution guidance more closely if/when we resolve the initial questions.

Is there something I can have our SIA do to support the concurrent enrollment? She is fantastic (thanks, Teresa) and can support us in this endeavor.

I am working on availability of devices and potential distribution locations. As you can imagine, we are in the midst of giving out laptops and the number available changes hourly. However, the first few steps that I outlined above could begin immediately and will help us to really focus on the exact number we need. Thanks for your help and patience.

Tracey

And do we have any sense of whether those private schools might be providing devices? I ask primarily because devices from those schools are likely configured for use at those schools, where ours will not be. They won't be able to install any applications or drivers or anything like that, our internet content filters are set-up for FCPS content access, etc... those types of wrinkles that could cause issues. Okay this is good to know. One of our challenges is creating a user profile on a laptop for use from home. Those are based on an @fcps.edu user account, so that's why I am wondering if the student is in system. For instance, do you know if they have access to our FCPS Google environment?

And do you have a sort of grade level profile? Are they all HS? Or spread across the map?

Hi Tracey, many thanks for the quick reply!

Yes, these are FCPS students who, by IEP are placed in private day schools in the DMV area. I don't think they have accounts because they are enrolled in "contract schools" in SIS. But our Multi-Agency Services is it's own school (with a school number).

Hi Jane...

I am not as familiar with the program, so excuse my naïve questions... these are technically FCPS students still in the FCPS system? In other words, do they have FCPS student accounts? Are these students spread out across the county? Or are they localized in a couple of areas?

I am not yet certain how the order will effect our distribution, or whether we'll have another 150 laptops, but having this additional information will help, if we're able to move forward.

Thanks,
Tracey

Hi Tracey,

I talked to Teresa this morning about a problem we are having. She directed me to you. We need laptops for students who are at home from our private schools (n = approx. 150) who can and should have the ability to participate in distance learning that we are doing for our public school students.

I know the Governor just made a stay at home order but if there is any way to do a laptop distribution, are there possibilities on getting those laptops for these students?

Thanks,
Jane

We do not have savings, but plenty of costs.

I'm fine with your response.

Subject: Finance - Looking for Budget Projection/Savings Information by TOMORROW

Maribeth and Tracey-

I was contacted by two different groups in finance (budget and comptrollers) today about projections for our budget. It looks like they recognize that IT is expending considerable resources – while also looking for cost savings to present to the school Board. I'm reaching out to you because budget is looking for information from us by early tomorrow so they can create their "COVID-19 cost/savings analysis" for the SB work session on April 9th. I know that we have expended more than anticipated on mifis and data (but monopole funding is in process from FTS). I have also heard about expansions to other applications, but it sounds like that hasn't been finalized. We have covered all other costs so far within our budget (and may see fewer computer orders in the coming months). We do have the option of responding that we don't have enough information on what student needs will be as distance learning starts to accurately project additional costs or savings.

Here's my proposed draft to send back:

Over the past three weeks, IT has worked to acquire 2,100 student MiFis (some of which are on backorder) as well as the considerable initial data we anticipate students will need to participate fully in distance learning activities. IT has also supported schools and departments with the acquisition of additional tools and resources to meet the demands of educators and support staff working from home. We anticipate that our utility, equipment and computer lease (including one-time) budgets will be fully expended. IT is ready to support additional technology and service needs identified by instructional leaders, however, until FCPS works through all facets of distance learning, and the program begins, IT is unable to accurately project all the associated technology and service costs that will be required to fully support online learning. Once known, additional needs will be projected and shared.

Good afternoon- Please see request from reporter for a quote (or an interview if anyone can spare time) regarding challenges and discoveries of distance learning preparations:

I'm writing an article for the Fort Belvoir newspaper about everyone getting thrown in the deep end of the distance learning pool, as it were. I'd love an opportunity to speak with someone (or even be provided a quote) about the challenges and discoveries of this incredible moment in learning.

Feel free to call him directly OR please send a quote to me and I'll coordinate and send along to him. I think this is a good spot to highlight our FCPSOn, perhaps? And to set expectations that this won't be easy and far from ideal....as there is no replacement for teacher-led, classroom learning. Apparently, he is Tracy Soular's neighbor, BTW. Thanks! Lucy

Currently, FCPS best practice for communicating to parents on Google Classroom activity is to embed the Google Classroom calendar in FCPS 24/7 Blackboard that allows parents to view upcoming work. We recognize that Google Classroom is very popular but provides insufficient parental access to documents stored in Google Drive. FCPS recently awarded a contract to Schoology for our LMS replacement. By moving to single LMS, we will provide better parent visibility. We are already moving forward and are putting our efforts toward implementation of Schoology. We plan to pilot Schoology this Fall.

That seems like a school problem to me. Teacher has been posting in Google and not Bb where parent can see it.

We do not have any MiFi devices for staff. If that changes in the future, we'll let you know, but I don't want to give anyone false hope.

We would need to keep track by school the need for staff laptops.

Please review and edit before I send to principals.

Dear Principals,

The Department of Special Services is working on professional development and a resource document about how instructional assistants may be utilized during the implementation of the distance learning plan (DLP). We have heard that a number of principals have already provided laptops to IAs during the school year. Right now, we are trying to get a sense of how many IAs you have that would require access to technology at home in order to support student distance learning at the direction of the special education teachers. We don't anticipate that every assistant would require access to a laptop or need a school provided one if they have use of their own technology available at home. In addition, FCPS has a limited number of teacher laptops and MiFi devices available at this time, and also a limited number of student laptops as they are being distributed to the most needy students within FCPS.

Please send an email to my assistant, Tina West, cwest@fcps.edu, to let us know how many teacher laptops you would anticipate needing for your IAs. Again, please consider how you propose to utilize the IA, why they would require the technology, how they will be supporting students, etc. We recognize that other paraprofessionals (PHTAs, PHAs) may need access at some point as well, but for now we are prioritizing instruction assistants.
